What do you know about CVRD Zoning Bylaws?

A zoning bylaw is a set of rules that specify how land can and cannot be used. In the CVRD, zoning bylaws are enacted by the CVRD Board through authority granted by the Local Government Act.

Zoning bylaws regulate:

- Use of land, buildings, and other structures
- Density, or the number of homes that can be built on one property
- Siting and size of buildings and other structures, including height and setbacks from property lines
- Location of uses on the land and within buildings and other structures

- Shape, dimensions, and area of all parcels of land created by subdivision, which includes minimum parcel sizes

The power to regulate through a zoning bylaw also includes the power for local governments to prohibit uses in a zone. Watch a short "What is Zoning" video. Learn more at planyourcowichan.ca
